BENGALURU: In 2023, at least 12 people died each week in India due to drug overdoses, according to the latest data from the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB). That translates to nearly two overdose-related deaths every day. Over the past five years (2019–2023), a total of 3,290 overdose deaths were recorded, with the average remaining fairly consistent with the 2023 figures.

However, what makes these statistics especially troubling is what they don't show. The figures only account for confirmed drug
